tend to more freedom of intercourse with all parts of Her Majesty's dominions. The Queen, in reply, said that she was sincerely gratified to witness the successful result of the Prince of Wales's exertions and shared in his expectations as to the good effects of such an Exhibition, while she hoped that it would tend to strengthen the bonds of union now existing in every portion of the Empire.

This Egeria, now at Devonport, is expected to be completed by the end of May, when she will relieve one of the foreign surveying vessels, probably the Flying Fish, which was recommissioned at Hong Kong in 1883. She is a composite screw sloop of 940 tons, carries 6 guns and has engines of 1010 horse power. She has been in commission as a surveying vessel on this station before.

It is intended to place 32 first-class torpedo at Hong Kong, six; Malta, eight; Gibraltar, six; Simon's Bay, four; and North America, eight. Of these, two have been despatched to Hong Kong, Gibraltar and North America, and four to Malta and Simon's Bay, leaving eighteen still to be sent out.

The case of Mr. J. J. Spooner, excise officer, who is charged with deserting from the Singapore Police force, has been dragging wearily along at the Police Court. The character of the evidence against the defendant is not of the best. There has been no one forward who can give satisfactory evidence as to Mr. Spooner being sworn in, neither has it been shown that he joined the Force after the passing of the ordinance on which his arrest is made. Mr. Wotton, in his defence, pointed out the defects in the evidence and the case has been again adjourned.

The marriage of Lieutenant Thomas Enkine Cochrane, R. N., second son of Colonel W. M. Cochrane, of Farnham House, Farnham Royal, with Mary, third daughter of John Bell-Irvine, of Whitehill, Lockerbie, took place in St. Mungo's parish church on March 24. The bridegroom was attended by the Hon. Harold Denison, R.N., as best man, both wearing uniform. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a bodice and train of ivory satin brocade, over a petticoat of French silk embroidery, profusely trimmed with orange-blossom. She wore a wreath with long tulle veil, and carried a 'posy' of staphanotis, lily-of-the-valley, and orange-blossom. The bridesmaids, Miss Jessie Bell-Irvine and Miss Prophy, wore dresses of cream Sidiene, trimmed with cream crepe and soft-coloured lace toques to correspond, with lilies-of-the-valley and blush roses. They had oval-shaped fans, bearing clusters of similar flowers, and wore gold anchor brooches, both the gifts of the bridegroom. The bride's travelling costume was of bronze cloth trimmed with tapestry and dark-blue velvet, velvet along coat and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. J. Bell-Irvine entertained their friends to a dance at Whitehill in the evening.

For some time past Thomas Stevens, an enterprising bicyclist of English nationality but American domicile, has been engaged on the adventurous task of attempting to ride round the world on a bicycle. Having started last year from California, he crossed the American continent safely to New York, whence he reached England, he next proceeded to the Continent and so into Asia, and the last heard of him was that he left Yekana on March 4 en route for Calcutta.

They would not be so far from the truth if fair words had the desired effect, and the two men followed their townsman to No. 115 Wellington Street. There they were received cordially by other two men. They were treated to tea, and after some conversation were asked if they had any money. The one produced £66 in silver, and the other a bank order for £250. This money the man who had first accosted them handed to his confederates, saying they would take care of it and get goods for the visit.

It was, however, became suspicious, and one of them caught hold of their host by the queue and gave him in charge. This individual was tried before Mr. Mitchell-Jones on a charge of robbing the two Chinese. The case, after numerous adjournments, was finally disposed of to-day. The evidence was not of a very satisfactory character for six months.

The Champion, Captain Powlett, from Kobe, arrived at Yokohama on Thursday the 22nd ultimo.

Der Echo, a Berlin paper, offers two prizes to any person who will send it the best solution to the oft-debated question why a man's wife is always called his 'better half.'

A FIELD gun and the necessary equipments has recently been sent to China, together with estimates of the expense required for their maintenance, at the request of the Chinese Government.—Japan Mail Translation.

The construction of the United States Consulate in Nagasaki has been temporarily postponed owing to the smallness of the U.S. Consular staff in Japan and the pressure of business in the Legation. The American Consul for that port will meanwhile officiate at the Legation.—Japan Mail Translation.

There is (says a Honolulu paper) a shabby-looking Portuguese man who for some time past has been telling wonderful tales of his poverty, helplessness and hunger to benevolently disposed people in Honolulu. He received alms of them until a few days ago, when he purchased a house and lot for a few thousand dollars, to the astonishment of the deluded philanthropists.

Mr. E. J. Wells, who has lately carried out some successful experiments in electric lighting in Nagasaki, returned from Bangkok on 27th ultimo by the S. S. Donna. The results of this second visit to the capital of Siam have been as satisfactory as those of the first. Mr. Wells, in addition to finally adjusting the terms of his concession for lighting the city and suburbs which he had previously arranged for, has also arranged the details of an agreement for lighting five miles of streets as a first instalment of public lighting, and commenced negotiations for lighting the Palace and public buildings as well as various private residences. Mr. Wells will leave for England at an early date as possible in order to complete the formation of the Company and to send out the machinery required for the installations already ordered.—Strait Times.

The death is announced of Captain James T. Waddell, the commander of the celebrated rebel steamer Shenandoah. He was born in North Carolina in 1824, and entered the American Navy in 1838. When the civil war began he went into the Confederate service. In this he was given the command of the well-known Shenandoah, in which he sailed into the North Pacific, entered the Arctic seas, and destroyed thousands of dollars worth of commerce. The war had been over some months when he was heard from an English vessel, that he had been captured. Most of his people begged of him to run the Shenandoah ashore and let each man look out for himself. This Captain Waddell refused to do, but set sail for Liverpool, when he arrived in due time, running the gauntlet of the United States Navy for 20,000 miles. He was sentenced to the Queen of England, the only instance of the kind on record. He had had a narrow escape, for an American war steamer was close at his heels.

Dr. Nord, writes as follows in the British Medical Journal regarding a alleged new remedy for sea-sickness.—Having noticed in the Journal of September 5th, 1883, marks on the use of cocaine for sea-sickness, I felt somewhat, as I am my son, follow his directions in the use of cocaine for sea-sickness. I had suffered excessively from sea-sickness. He started October 6th, and writing from Port Said, reports as follows: 'Sailing Monday, I was ill Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, but quite well between the attacks. Once more, when the weather was very rough and the ship rolled terribly, I felt somewhat, but two teaspoonfuls of the cocaine put me all right.' He adds: 'I have missed only three meals since we sailed. Other voyagers I have always been the worst on board, and I think the cocaine must have the credit of the improvement.' Other letters have been received, but as no mention is made of any return of the malady, we conclude he has remained well.

Our position in Port Hamilton is again engaging prominent attention in the Foreign Office, and there seems to be a corresponding agitation respecting Russia's intention with regard to Port Lazareff. The information on both points, however, is too meagre to afford anything more than grounds for unprofitable speculation. Says the L. & O. Express—

It is announced that important despatches have been exchanged during the last few days between Lord Rosebery and the British Minister at St. Petersburg regarding our position at Port Hamilton.

And thus the Overland Mail—No communications have passed recently between the Russian and British Foreign Offices regarding the English occupation of Port Hamilton, or as to any Russian intention of occupying the Korean port of Lazareff. It is known, however, that recent Russian explorations and the official recognition of the necessity of an extension of railway communication through Asiatic Russia towards the Pacific have turned the attention of the Russian Government in the direction of the Korean coast, and the occupation of Lazareff would be a matter directly concerning China.

The Overland Mail says, editorially—The gratifying news that Her Majesty the Queen will open the Colonial and Indian Exhibition has sent quite a flutter through society, and awakened an interest in the opening ceremony which must tell favourably on the future success of the undertaking. The utmost efforts are being put forth by the experienced official staff at South Kensington to make this the most perfect and splendid of all the grand functions held on the now historic grounds of the Horticultural Society. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales gives an energetic personal attention to the details, and manifests an intelligent interest which stimulates every one, from high to low, connected with the Exhibition. This new evidence of the anxiety of the Queen to try to meet the eager desire of her subjects for her more frequent appearance at public ceremonies has created a happy impression, although we fear few of those who are bailing her graceful public reappearance know at what strain on the feelings and on the system these trying ordeals are undertaken. Two letters from the Queen to the wife and son of Principal Talbot, published during the week, have evoked a profound admiration of her tact and sensibility. It would be hardly possible to imagine a splendor, penned by a sovereign, showing a happier combination of royal grace with the common human sympathy that unites the Queen to her humblest subject.

Sir Charles Dilke is evidently not finding his position in the House of Commons a bed of roses. On the 28th March, in the House of Commons, Mr. H. F. Wilson asked the Attorney-General, whether in the recent case in the Divorce Court it was decided that evidence upon which a respondent was found guilty of adultery was not receivable as against the co-respondent, whether in cases of conspiracy it had been Divine, was then sung, the solo being rendered by Bro. Neubour.

In the course of the ceremony several hymns were sung by W. Bro. Fenim, and hymns were sung by the Brethren.
R. W. Bro. Miller then addressed the Brethren, saying—Right Worshipful Master, and Brethren, in addressing you for the first time as District Grand Master, I should be wanting in respect to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, M. V. Grand Master of England, if I did not express my deep sense of the honour he has done me in appointing me to this high office. At the same time I would express my heartfelt gratitude to the Brethren, who, while awaiting themselves of the permission of His Royal Highness to nominate a Brother for this office, placed their confidence in me—a confidence, Brethren, that I will be my earnest endeavour to merit; and I trust that health and strength will be vouchsafed to me to hand this gavel to my successor unimpaired and unimpaired, as I received it from my predecessor, R. W. Past District Grand Master, the part which you have taken in this evening's proceedings adds but one more to the many invaluable services that you have rendered to us in our ceremonies in this District—and as one of every other Constitution. I cannot but think, however, that this evening's proceedings are not the least interesting to you. In assuming this chair I am well aware that I am taking the place of one whom it will be hard to equal and almost impossible to excel.—(Loud cheers.)—This, I am sure, will be so patent to every Brother amongst us that I need not further dilate upon it. For your services this evening, R. W. Sir, I return you my heartfelt thanks. Worshipful Brethren, Officers of the District Grand Lodge, in assuming charge of this District I look with confidence to your assistance and support in carrying out the duties of my office. The good government, the success and the prosperity of the Craft in this District mainly lie in your hands. The high positions that you occupy should stimulate your zeal and make you anxious to set an example to your Brethren, so that the dignity of our Order, its prosperity and usefulness, may not be impaired during our term of office. Worshipful Masters and Wardens of the Lodges under this Constitution, in assuming charge of this District I have been too long amongst you, and too long associated with you, to have any doubt of your zeal and ability in discharging the functions of the offices with which you have been entrusted. The Brethren of your Lodges have placed you in high positions, and it behoves you therefore to exercise your skill and abilities in instructing the Brethren placed under your charge in the various degrees of Freemasonry, so that they may be a credit to your Lodges and to the Craft in general. I have every confidence that during your term of office, and in the future, your exertions will be such as to raise the standard of Masonry in this District, and to encourage every good work which should characterize a Free and Accepted Mason. Brethren, let us never forget, and always practice, the three great principles of Masonry—Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth. Being placed as we all are in one of the most distant quarters of the globe, separated from those friends who are nearest and dearest to us, far removed from the place of our birth, for which we have an inherent longing, it behooves us to draw closer the bonds of brotherhood, and with united heart and hand to help one another, not grudgingly, but freely and openly. Let us exercise out of the Lodge those great principles we are taught within it, so that one in the outside world may know when he meets a Mason that he meets a just and upright man. He who acts up to these principles is a true Mason in act as well as in word. The second great principle, Relief, has been so freely and generously exercised in this community that I need not here dilate on its excellencies. We all meet here in distress that relief which we can afford; and let us ever continue to act in this way. Truth may be said to include both the others, for without truth the bonds of brotherhood cannot exist. It is a source of regret to me this evening to miss one of our family faces;—a Brother who has been an active Officer of this District Grand Lodge from its foundation—I refer to proceed his acknowledgment of these congratulations, the Lodge was closed, and the D. G. Officers left the Lodge in procession, to the strains of "God Bless the Prince of Wales," sung by the Brethren.—N. D. D.
